Basketball At Carolina Has Memorable History

The death recently of the great Jack Cobb stirred the memory of a golden era in the Roaring Twenties when North Carolina won a national chamionship and set the tempo for the Tar Heels' winning basketball tradition.

Cobb's 1924 team swept 24 straight games and later was recognized by the Helms Foundation as the national champion. That was the start of something big.

The Tar Heels won a second national championship in 1957, producing a team that certainly ranks among the great college clubs of all time.

Coached by Frank McGuire, the 1957 Tar Heels won 32 consecutive games and defeated Kansas University, led by Wilt Chamberlain, 54-53, in the national finals. It was a triple overtime game, one of the classic contests of all time.

There was a basketball activity on The Hill as far back as 1903. Dr. Robert Lawson obtained a rule book in 1906 and fielded the first official team. It was not, however, until 1911 that Phil Ritch and some of his Charlotte buddies introduced the game seriously.

The impetis for the enthusiasm in the 20s was furnished by Major Fred Boye, who coached the Tar Heels in 1920 and 1921. The 1922 quint captured the Southern championship and the 1923 team swept the South Atlantic crown.

Norman Shepard was hired to coach the 1924 team which went through the regular season and the southern tournament unbeaten. This team was captained by Winton Green and its star was Cobb, who later was acclaimed in the Helms Basketball Hall of Fame.

Both the Carmichaels, Billy and Cartwright, were superlative players of that era. Bill Dodderer, Monk McDonald and brother Sam, Bill Devin, Curtis (Sis) Perry and Carlyle Shepard were among the other greats.

Bo Shepard, brother of Norman and Carlyle, was one of Carolina's most successful coaches in the days that followed. There were great teams in the 30s when the McCachren brothers and a host of other stars came here from Charlotte.

George Glamack, Jim Jordan and John (Hook) Dillon became all-Americans in later years and the 1946 team runnerup to Oklahoma A and M for the national championship.

Coaches during the period of the late 1930s and the 1940s were Walter Skidmore, Bill Lange, Ben Carnevale and Tom Scott. Frank McGuire followed Scott and when McGuire left to become coach of the pro Philadelphia Warriors, Dean Smith took charge.

Smith and his Tar Heels moved last season into the beautiful and spacious Carmichael Auditorium. Carolina had played in three other arenas before that.

First there was the Bynum Hall, now utilized for the University News Bureau. Then came the Tin Can, constructed in 1924 and still in use for Physical Education. Basketball entered Woollen Gym in 1939. It was considered the mecca of arenas at the time, but became outdated after World War II.

UNC And The TAR HEELS

LOCATION: Chapel Hill, N. C. Approximately the geographical center of the State of North Carolina, 10 miles from Durham, 30 miles from Raleigh.

FOUNDED: The University was officially chartered as a State University in 1789, with doors opening in 1795.

ENROLLMENT: 13,250.

NICKNAME: Ta- Heels. Adopted because North Carolinians as natives are known as Tar Heels. The nickname is said to have been applied to the area's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. Tar and turpentine were in abundance in the state at that time. Legend has it that British generals noticed barefooted natives with tar on their heels and first applied the soubriquet.

COLORS: Carolina Blue and White.

HOME FLOOR: Carmichael Auditorium, seating capacity 8,500.

GAME TIMES: All home games start at 8 p.m. except vs. Duke, which starts at 2 p.m. Varsity games are usually preceded by a freshman preliminary beginning at 6 p.m.

RADIO & TV: Clearance is necessary for broadcasts. This may be obtained through the Sports Information Director.

PRESS TICKETS: Applications should be made to Jack Williams, Sports Information Director (Box 1047, Phone 933-2123), as far in advance as possible.

DEAN SMITH: Respected Coach, Top Recruiter His Presence Spells Excitement

The dean of University of North Carolina basketball is 35-year-old Dean Smith, one of the country's brightest and boldest coaches.

His five-year Tar Heel record—66 victories and 47 defeats aginst the toughest opposition in America—tells part of the story. But not all of it.

Smith's very presence on the court seems to spell out excitement. His Carolina teams have produced players of extraordinary ability, and many of the games they've played have made headlines coast to coast.

Last year, for example, in the semifinals of the hotly-contested Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, Smith's Tar Heels lost to powerful Duke, 21-20, in a never-to-be-forgotten game.

Despite the screams of 12,400 fans, Smith had his Tar Heels hold the ball in an effort to pull Duke out of the zone defense. The Blue Devils wouldn't budge.

Neither would Smith. He refused to let his team panic. They played it cool all the way and almost pulled off one of the season's biggest stunners.

Smith came to Carolina in 1958 as an assistant to the successful Frank McGuire, who only the year before had guided UNC to an unbeaten season and a national championship.

When McGuire left in 1961 to enter the pro ranks, Smith was named head coach. He's been going strong ever since.

His first team, caught with mediocre talent, had an 8-9 record, the only losing mark of the Smith regime. Carolina was 15-6 in a great 1962-63 season; 12-12 in 1963-64; 15-9 in 1964-65; and 16-11 last campaign.

Smith readily admits that a big part of the game is recruiting, and in this department, he is A-No. 1. Two of his current players, Bob Lewis and Larry Miller, were among the country's most highly-sought stars.

Under Smith, Billy Cunningham, now of the Philadelphia 76ers, made All-America. He also coached Larry Brown, who went on to become an Olympic gold medal winner and now is an assistant on Smith's staff.

The dapper Smith is a native of Emporia, Kansas. He was a member of the 1952 University of Kansas cage team that won the national title and the 1953 club that finished runner-up. He played under the famed Dr. Phog Allen and also played baseball and freshman football at Kansas.

After graduation, he joined the Kansas U. staff and later went into the service, playing and coaching in Germany. Dean was on the Air Force Academy staff coaching basketball, baseball and golf when he resigned to come to Carolina.

Smith's offensive tactics have a wide scope.

He is a strong believer in the man-for-man defense, but uses other tactics when the occasion demands. He is recognized as having helped develop the point zone defense, which combines man-for-man with zone into one operation.

Dean and his wife, Ann, have two daughters and a son. The coach is active throughout the year at clinics and seminars and is a popular speaker.

DEAN SMITH COMMENTS ON 1966-67 SEASON

"We have more depth and more height than we have had in some time and I feel that we will have a good team at Carolina this season. Of course, our big objective is to win the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

"But the fact remains that we will have sophomores in our starting lineup, and the ACC simply isn't a sophomore league.

"The attitude of our players has been wonderful and we are eagerly looking forward to the season."

John Lotz—A Familiar Name In UNC Basketball

When North Carolina's Tar Heels led the nation last season in field goal marksmanship, hitting 51.7 percent of all their shots, a lot of the credit went to assistant coach John Lotz.

An expert on shooting technique, Lotz spends much of his time in practice each day giving shooting tips to the Tar Heels. They will tell you that there is no better teacher.

John Lotz is starting his second season as a member of Dean Smith's staff and already he has become one of the most popular figures on campus.

John is a brother of Danny Lotz, a member of Carolina's 1957 national championship team. John takes special pride in the fact that Danny recently was wed to Anne Graham, daughter of the famed evangelist, Billy Graham.

The brothers are very close and see each other often since Danny and his bride are making their home in Chapel Hill. Danny is a dentist.

John, now 31 years old, attended East Texas State where he was a prominent member of the basketball team. He played in the front court and excelled as a shooter.

He began his coaching career at Norwich, N. Y., where his team, which won only one game the year before, swept a total of 15. The next year, Lotz shifted to Massapequa, a new high school in Long Island. The first senior class there won the South Shore Championship under Lotz's direction.

John is a man-on-the-move 365 days a year. When the basketball season is over, he spends a good deal of his time recruiting. Those close to the Tar Heel scene will tell you he's a master in this department.

Son of a Baptist minister, John is a bachelor.

Larry Brown—A Winner As A Player And Coach

Larry Brown, one of the greatest competitors in the history of North Carolina basketball, looks for new worlds to conquer in his second season as assistant coach in charge of the freshmen.

Brown's first freshman squad a year ago was a devastating group which produced 15 wins in 16 games and wrapped up the Big Four championship.

Winning has become a habit with Larry Brown. He did it as a high schooler, as a Tar Heel star, in the National AAU ranks and then with the U. S. Olympic team at Tokyo.

A highlight of his dazzling career came when he helped pace the United States to a championship victory over the Russians in the finals of the Olympic Games.

Brown was 5-11 and 160 pounds when he came from Long Beach, N. Y., in 1959 to make a name for himself in Tar Heel athletics. He posted an 18-point average as a freshman and went from there to varsity stardom.

He was drafted by the Baltimore Bullets his senior year here, but turned instead to the AAU League in which he played for Goodyear. He was so dynamic in that league that he was chosen Most Valuable Player in the AAU in 1964.

Brown was selected from a 96-man tryout squad to play in the Olympics.

An outstanding student at Carolina, he was vice-president of his class in both his junior and senior years.

Brown is married to the former Gayle Venters, daughter of the State Senator. They are expecting their first baby in April.

Height, Hustle Make Tar Heels ACC Threat

All-America candidates Bob Lewis and Larry Miller and a supporting cast that is packed with height and hustle make North Carolina a solid contender for Atlantic Coast Conference basketball honors this season.

Dean Smith, starting his sixth season as head coach, admits he's extremely optimistic. "We'll have a good team that can go out there and play with anybody," he says. "And for the first time since I've been here, we have enough depth that all positions are up for grabs."

The Tar Heel optimism is dimmed slightly, however, by one factor. There will be sophomores in the starting lineup, and it must be noted that sophs never have found the Atlantic Coast Conference battlefield a very friendly place. Last year, only two sophomores made the starting teams on the five clubs that led the conference.

Rusty Clark (6-11), Bill Bunting (6-8) and Dick Grubar (6-4) are the leading sophomore candidates while two others, Joe Brown (6-5) and Gerald Tuttle (5-11) likely will see some action.

Leading the Tar Heel charge for the second straight year will be Lewis and Miller, perhaps the best one-two punch in college basketball. They had a combined scoring average of 48.4 points a game last season.

Lewis, a slender 6-3 senior from Washington, D.C., is a man of magic, hailed by opposing coaches and players across the land.

"He's the best shooter I've ever seen in 34 years of coaching," said the late Bud Kennedy of Florida State last season after Lewis bombed the Seminoles with 49 points to set a new UNC school record.

Lewis finished last season with 740 points for an average of 27.4. He accomplished this despite the fact that he faced double-team defenses in most games. With a taller, more capable supporting cast, Lewis may be facing more honest defenses this season.

Miller, a husky 6-3 junior from Catasauqua, Pa., was the best new man in the ACC last year, averaging 20.9 points and more than 10 rebounds a game. He and Lewis worked together unselfishly as the Tar Heels raced to 16 victories in 27 games.

Miller will have rebounding help this time, something he didn't have in 1965-1966.

Tom Gauntlett, 6-5 backcourt operator from Dallas, Pa., is another returning starter. Hitting frequently from outside, he averaged 9.8 last year. Beefy Mark Mirken, hustling Ralph Fletcher and a pair of swift guards, Donnie Moe and Greg Campbell, are other returnees who saw action last season.

Clark, the sophomore giant from Fayetteville, N.C., led the freshmen scoring with a 20.5 average while Bunting, of New Bern, N. C., scored at a 15.9 clip.

Grubar, a flashy backcourt operator who was a high school All-America at Schnectady, N. Y., averaged 15.0. He may be the man able to take over the playmaking duties of Johnny Yokley, who graduated.

The only other player of note who graduated was center Bob Bennett. He and Yokley were the fastest starters last season, and Smith feels lack of speed this year could be one of the team's weaknesses.

The schedule, as usual, is extremely rugged, but the Tar Heels appear capable of making a fine showing. It could be a very big year.

A QUICKIE ESTIMATE:

Lettermen Lost (five):

Bob Bennett, 6-8, center—A starter in every game last season, he averaged 8.3 points a game and ranked second among the Tar Heels in rebounding with 176.

Johnny Yokley, 6-1 guard—The "quarterback" of the 1965-66 Tar Heels, a smooth operator who averaged 6.4 points a game and set up many baskets with sharp passing.

Jim Smithwick, 6-5 forward—He saw action in 21 of the Tar Heels' 27 games and played a prominent role as a reserve in many of them.

Jim Moore, 6-3 guard—Saw action in 11 games, but total playing time was very little.

Mike Smith, 6-0 guard—Eligible only for the last half of the season and played in just three games.

Lettermen returning (seven):

Bob Lewis, 6-3 front and backcourt—A hot candidate for all-America. He averaged 27.4 points a game last year and ranked 10th among nation's scorers. Does it all.

Larry Miller, 6-3 frontcourt—Rated best sophomore in ACC last season. He averaged 20.9 points and hauled down 277 rebounds. Another prime candidate for all-America.

Tom Gauntlett, 6-4 backcourt—A valuable starter last season, he averaged 9.8 points a game. He's deadly from outside, scored 28 points against West Virginia.

Mark Merkin, 6-6 frontcourt—A key reserve a year ago, he played a prominent role as a rebounder. He saw action as a reserve in 23 of 27 games last season.

Donnie Moe, 6-2 backcourt—A fine playmaker, he saw action as a reserved in 23 of 27 games last season. Has exceptionally quick hands.

Ralph Fletcher, 6-5 frontcourt—Used sparingly last season, but showed flashes of real promise.

Jim Frye, 6-5 frontcourt—Played in only five games last year because of inexperience.

Replacements (six):

All the members of last year's starting freshmen team are in the running for top spots with the varsity this season. They are 6-11 Rusty Clark, 6-8 Bill Bunting, 6-4 Dick Grubar, 6-5 Joe Brown and 6-0 Gerald Tuttle, Jim Bostick, the sixth man on that frosh club, also figures prominently in Tar Heel plans.

An all-important figure in Carolina plans this season. . . . He was a key reserve last year and played a prominent role in some Tar Heel wins. . . . Big and tough, he fights a good battle under the boards. . . . Ranked fourth among the team's rebounders last season with 76. . . . Played in all but one game, averaging 3.3 points a contest. . . . Wears a famous number, the old No. 32 in which Billy Cunningham flashed to glory here. . . . Made the all-New York City team as a prepster. . . . Coached by Dave Fried at Sheepshead Bay. . . . Will attend law school next year. . . . Nicknamed The Chief. . . . He's engaged to be married soon to a pretty cheerleader at Rhode Island Univrsity.

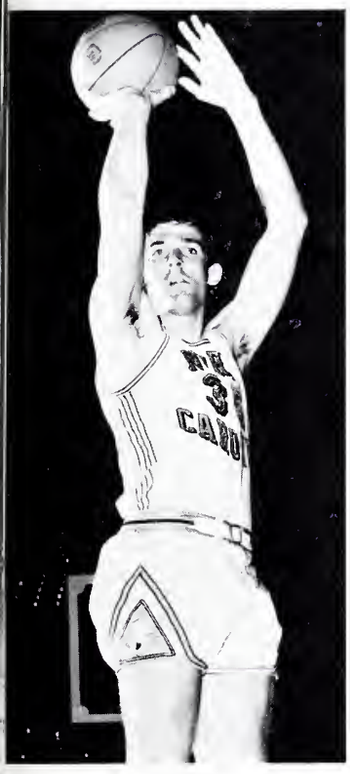
RALPH FLETCHER

Arlington, Va.

35

Position: Frontcourt



Height: 6-5
Weight: 190
Age: 20
Class: Junior

One of the big surprises of early practices this season. . . . Came back with determination to succeed. . . . Saw action in 10 games last season and helped out in battle under the boards. . . . Improved in all phases of the game and does a good job defensively. . . . He's battling for a spot as seventh man and is engaged in three-man fight with Mark Mirken and Joe Brown. . . . Should have a fine season. . . . Ralph came to Carolina without a scholarship, but impressed Coach Smith so much that he was awarded one. . . . A business school major. . . . Serves as a lifeguard in summer. . . . Has always been extremely popular with his teammates. . . . A good thinker and a willing worker.

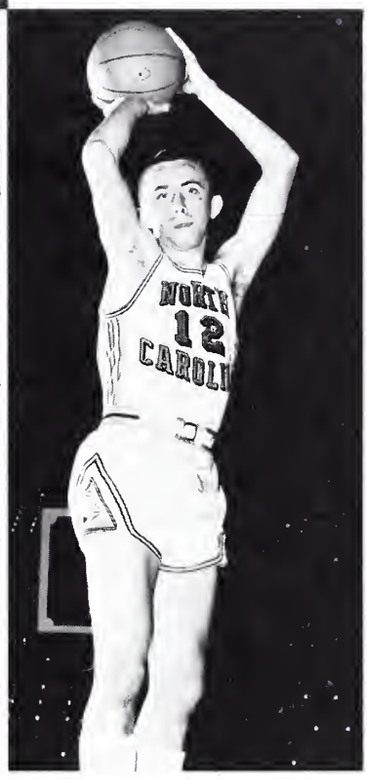
JIM FRYE

Homewood, Ill.

12

Position: Frontcourt



Height: 6-5
Weight: 180
Age: 20
Class: Junior

An all-state performer at Homewood-Flossmoor High in Illinois. . . . Second leading scorer with 1965 UNC frosh with 12.4 average. . . . Had a great shooting percentage of 57.4. . . . More weight would aid his rebounding. . . . Played in five games last season. . . . Has fine attitude and shows promise. . . . An outstanding hurdler and high jumper with the track team. . . . He's nicknamed "Slinky" by his teammates. . . . Has a great sense of humor, kids himself by saying to the other players, "A team is only as strong as its weakest link." . . . Has fine speed and is especially effective in a fast break.

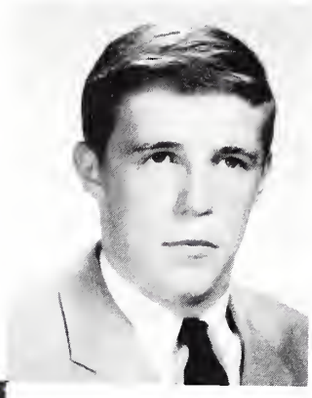
DONNIE MOE

Brooklyn, N. Y.

40

Position: Backcourt



Height: 6-2
Weight: 170
Age: 21
Class: Junior

Came to Carolina without a scholarship, and won spot on team with determination and desire. . . . An excellent passer and has a knack of finding an open man. . . . Will see duty as a "quarterback". . . . A ringleader last year in UNC's pressing defense, he saw action in 23 of Tar Heels' 27 games. . . . Hit 52 percent of his shots from the floor. . . . Brother of Carolina All-America Doug Moe. . . . Coach Smith praises him for his hustle and fine attitude. Didn't make the team here as sophomore, but now considered a valuable member. . . . Likely to be used to best advantage late in a game when the Tar Heels have a lead to protect. . . . He's one of the best dribblers on club.

RICHARD GRUBAR

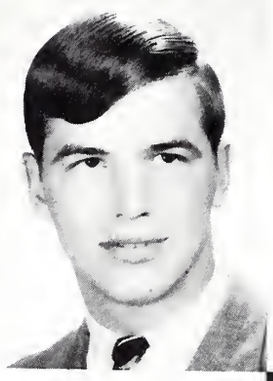
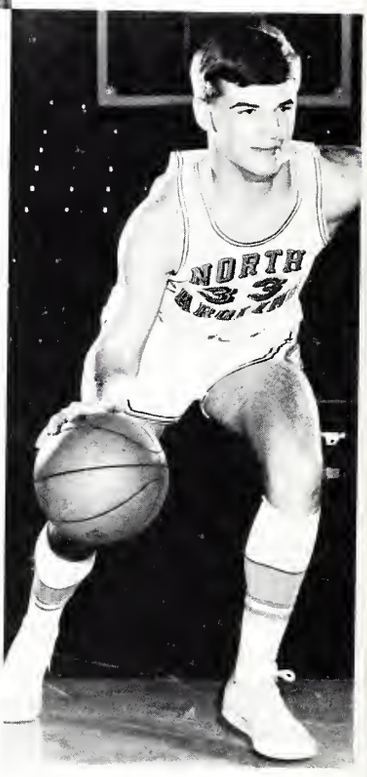
13

Position: Backcourt





Height: 6-3
Weight: 190
Age: 19
Class: Soph

Here's the new "quarterback" of the Tar Heels. . . . A slick ball handler and a deft passer. . . . Has fine scoring touch, too, as evidenced by his 15.0 average with last year's freshmen. . . . Hit 56.2 percent of his shots from floor. . . . Tremendous high school record. . . . You'll hear from this young man. . . . He will be challenged defensively by the Atlantic Coast Conference's many slick backcourt scorers, including such fellows as Bob Verga of Duke and Skip Harlicka and Jack Thompson of South Carolina. . . . He's a close friend of Kentucky's All-America, Pat Riley. . . . They hail from the same hometown.

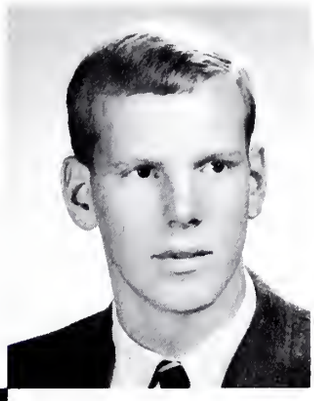
UNC

RUSTY CLARK

Fayetteville, N. C.

43

Position: Frontcourt



Height: 6-10
Weight: 228
Age: 19
Class: Soph

High scorer and leading rebounder on last year's freshman team. . . . He scored at 20.5 clip and grabbed 204 rebounds. . . . Will break into lineup as a starter right off the bat. . . . Should give Tar Heels much more rebounding strength than they had a year ago. . . . A Morehead Scholar. . . . Coaches admit that Clark could be the key man for the Tar Heels. . . . He must prove to be a good varsity rebounder if UNC is to be a winner. . . . Has shown lots of hustle in early scrimmages and has been a constant scorer in practice games. . . . Undecided on his major. . . . A member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

PERSONALITY CHART

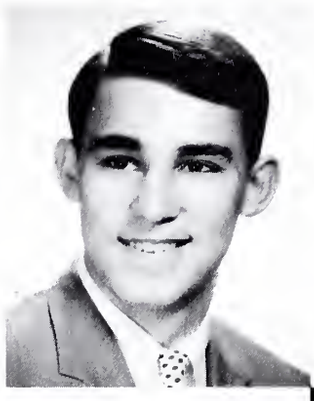
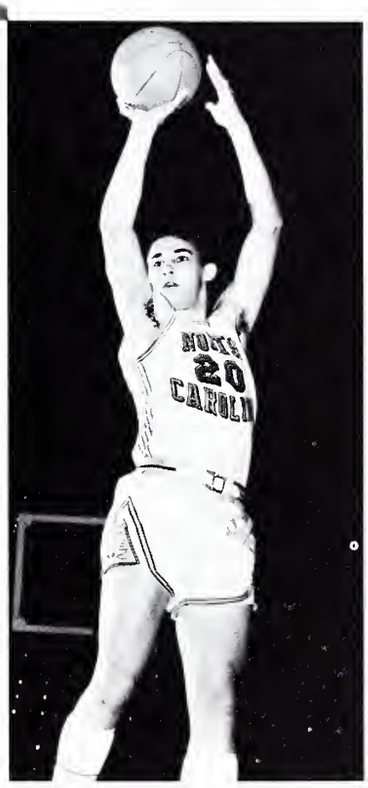
JOE BROWN

Valdese, N. C.

41

Position: Frontcourt





Height: 6-5
Weight: 195
Age: 19
Class: Soph

A king-sized surprise in early practice, he's fighting for recognition and will get it. . . . Had 11.0 scoring average with frosh, but coaches say his shooting has improved tremendously. . . . A lot of hustle. . . . Could turn out to be a key man as replacement in front court. . . . Attended Coach Dean Smith's summer basketball camp several times while in high school, and says he always had the desire to play college ball here. . . . Has a wonderful attitude. . . . Well-built and strong enough to be a real help in rebounding war.

PERSONALITY CHART

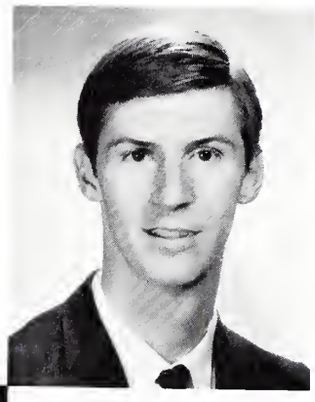
BILL BUNTING

New Bern, N. C.

31

Position: Frontcourt



Height: 6-8
Weight: 195
Age: 19
Class: Soph

Second scoring leader with last year's freshmen. . . . Hit at 15.9 clip and also grabbed 148 rebounds. . . . Exceptionally quick for a big man. . . . Hits well from the corners. . . . Could be a starter. . . . He's set for an outstanding career here. . . . Coaches look for him to develop rapidly and be a much stronger ACC player later in the season. . . . A big star at New Bern High School, led his team to the finals where they lost to Kinston. . . . Attended Clair Bee's All-American Basketball School in New York last summer and coaches here say he profited greatly from the experience. . . . If he develops into a good ACC rebounder, it would make Carolina a vastly improved team.

PERSONALITY CHART

Hobby: Sports.

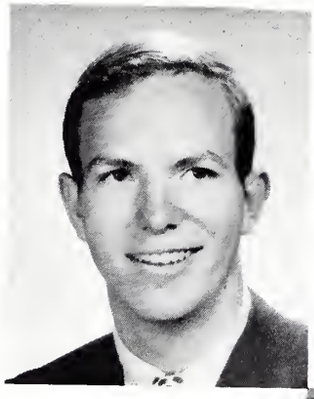
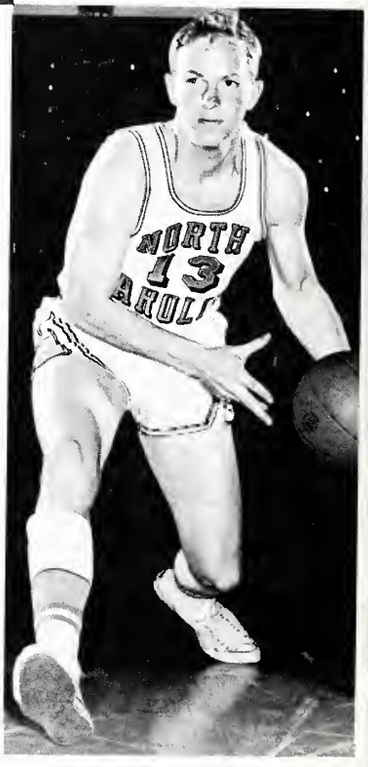
JIM BOSTICK

Atlanta, Ga.

34

Position: Backcourt





Height: 6-3
Weight: 185
Age: 19
Class: Soph

Sixth man on last year's freshman team, averaged 8.5 points a game. . . . Very quick and a real sharpshooter. Coach Smith says he has been a red-hot performer in practice. . . . One of Georgia's best prepsters at Westminster High. . . . A Morehead Scholar at UNC. . . . Will be playing in the backcourt for the first time this year and naturally will take him a while to become accustomed to the new post. . . . Attended Clair Bee's All-American Camp in New York last summer and picked up valuable tips. . . . Has a great desire to succeed at Carolina and coaches say he has a bright future.

PERSONALITY CHART

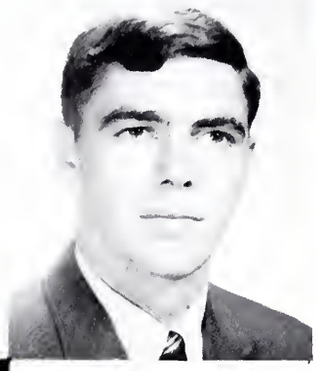
GERALD TUTTLE



London, Ky.

11

Position: Backcourt

Height: 6-0
Weight: 160
Age: 19
Class: Soph

Expected to see plenty of action at "quarterback" spot. . . . Exceptional floor leader with quick hands and good moves. . . . Averaged 9.9 points a game with frosh team last year. . . . Rated a fine defensive performer. . . . Was voted best guard in Kentucky State High School all-star game. . . . Has bright Carolina future. . . . Has four brothers, all of whom play basketball. One of them, Cecil, was a teammate of Carolina assistant Larry Brown on the Goodyear team in AAU circles.

PERSONALITY CHART

TEAM HONORS: Selected for National Invitation Tournament

SERIES RECORD: First Meeting

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-9 Paul Mickey; 6-3 g Jeff Persson; 6-2 f-g Joe McGovern.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-4 f Carver Clinton; 6-4 f Ken Kemble; 6-1 g Jim Reed; 6-1 Gerry Roseboro; 6-5 c Ray Saunders.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-8 f Bill Stansfield; 6-6 f Bill Young; 6-5 f Galen Godby (all sophs). Also: 6-0 g Gary Hayes; 6-0 g Steve Peters.

CO-CAPTAINS: Paul Mickey and Joe McGovern

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Depth will be the biggest problem, as the Lions will have to rely on inexperienced sophomores from the start. Two and possibly three sophs will start. Persson is the biggest offensive threat (he averaged over 13 points per game last year), but coach Egli must find more firepower if Penn State is to cope with the likes of Syracuse, Duke and Syracuse early in the season.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-7 f Johnny Arthurs; 6-5 g Rick Carlson; 6-4 g Billy Fitzgerald; 6-2 g Terry Habig.

CAPTAIN: Game-by-Game Basis

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: With the top six scorers returning from last year's squad and several fine prospects from a 19-0 freshman team, Tulane should show marked improvement. Senior guard Al Andrews, who averaged nearly 19 points per game last season, has been leading scorer for two years and should again be the floor leader.

CAPTAIN: Bruce Kaplan

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Three starters, Graham, Kaplan and Silen, return from last year's NIT finalists. Rounding out starting five, most likely, will be transfer Stee Fiske and junior Witrock. Coach Lou Rossini will have good scoring potential and bench strength. Look for Graham among top scorers and playmakers in the nation again. Weakness could be rebounding, but Violets went a long way last year with no one over 6-5.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: To match or better last year's 18-6 record (the best in 15 years) Columbia will have to depend on green backcourt men. The loss of Benoit and Felsinger will hurt a great deal, but the entire front line including Dave Newmark (Helms All-America) should provide plenty of scoring power.

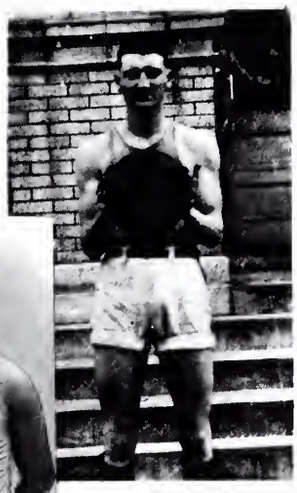
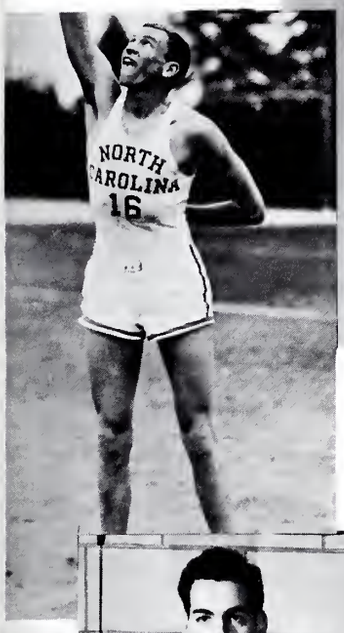
BASKETBALL AT CAROLINA IS MORE THAN JUST A GAME



Cartwright Carmichael
(1922-1924)

Monk McDonald
(1922-1924)



Ivan (Jack) Glace
(1933-1935)

The type of young men who play the game of basketball at Carolina are among the finest to be found anywhere in athletics. Their stories on these pages will attest to this.

Through the years, Tar Heel teams have always excelled in basketball. And it is interesting to note that the men who made this fine record on the court have gone on to become outstanding citizens in the communities in which they live. This is no coincidence. Officials of the University of North Carolina firmly believe that excellence in academics and athletics is a powerful formula for future success.

And so it is to the Tar Heel basketball players of the past that this book is dedicated.

CAPTAIN: Not Determined

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Bill Hosket, one of the Big Ten's finest sophomores last year at forward, will make the switch to center. Ron Sepic, a fine sophomore forward two years ago, will move back to that position after a mediocre year as a guard last year. These two will be the core of a team that will open with many question marks. Hosket and Sepic will have to come through at different positions and sophomores (notably Howell, Miller and Schnabel) will have to take up the slack at guard and forward.

CAPTAIN: Ed Hummer

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Coach Bill van Breda Kolff professes to feel "relatively optimistic" about the 1966-67 season. His guarded optimism is due largely to the number of returning lettermen on hand and the addition to the varsity of 6-9 sophomore Chris Thomforde. The Tiger coach expects to "definitely be a contender for the Ivy League championship." Brown, Hummer, Haarlow and Thomforde guarantee good rebounding and scoring potential; and Walters, Heiser, Lucchino and Lawyer have ample game experience in the back court.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-1 g Pete Caldwell; 6-3 Boogie Hill; 6-2 f Jerry Priestley; and 6-1 f Mick Stenftenagel.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-6 f-c Rich Wright; 6-3 g-f Ted Tomasovich; 6-2 f Terry Akins; 6-3½ g Tommy Lee and 6-9 c John White.

CAPTAINS: Game Captains

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Coach John "Whack" Hyder expects the 1966-67 Yellow Jackets to be one of the best shooting ball clubs in Georgia Tech history. He lost only one starter off of a ball club that broke most of the school scoring and shooting marks in 1965-66. "We'll be fast and have a lot of depth, but we'll still be faced with a lack of height," Hyder said. "This team should be one of the most interesting in Tech's history."

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-6 c John Schroeder.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-4 g-f Tom Farrell; 6-7 f Gary Gregor; 6-9 Mike Grosso; 6-0 g Eddie Powell; 5-9 g Hank Martin; 6-8 f Gene Spencer.

CAPTAIN: Not yet named

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Frank McGuire, beginning the third season of a "five-year plan" at South Carolina, may be two years ahead of schedule. The availability of Gary Gregor, ineligible for a season and a half; Mike Grosso, up from the frosh; and Tom Farrell, a junior college All-America, should give the Gamecocks the added strength to make them an ACC contender. Backcourt aces Jack Thompson and Skip Harlicka, and forwards Al Salvadori and Frank Standard return from last year's starting lineup.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-4 g Chris Ellis; 6-1 g Walter Deskins; 6-6 c Ken Talley; 6-8 f Dan Wetzel; 6-5 f Ron Wagner; 6-3 f Stan Kerrick.

CAPTAIN: Unselected

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Coach Howie Shannon faces his third campaign with the most experience he has had and with less apprehension about the early season schedule than in the last two years. Five senior lettermen give the Gobblers a solid foundation despite the loss of John Wetzel, who led the Techmen as senior co-captain last year. Sophomore red-shirt Dan Wetzel and guard Chris Ellis loom as most likely into the veteran front line.

The University

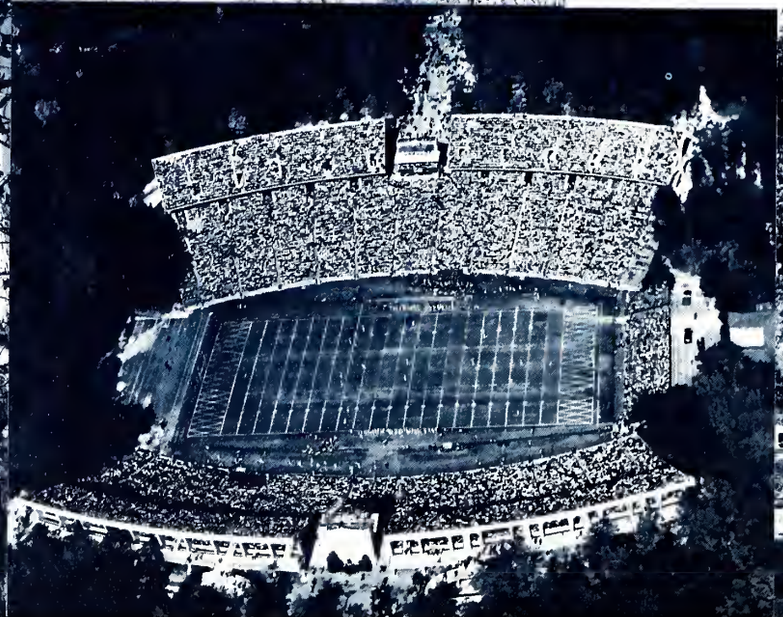
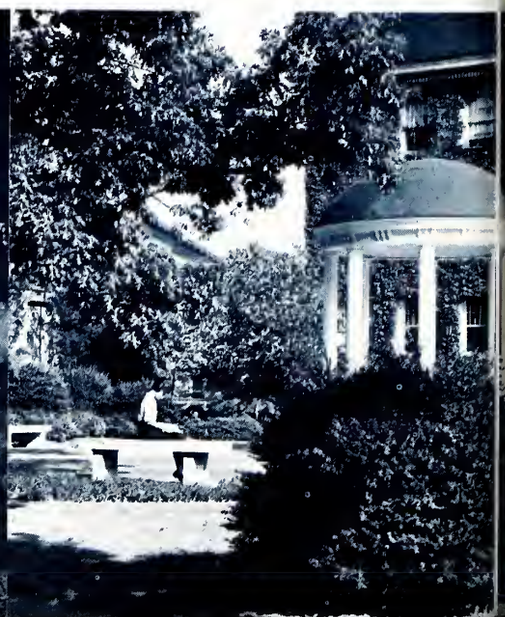
The University of North Carolina a Chapel Hill has a proud heritage. It is distinguished academic institution nes ling in a unique community. Chapel Hi was recently described by Time Magazin as "one of the 20 most enjoyable place to live in the United States."





Chapel Hill

A Town Touched By Strange Magic

The late Jake Wade wrote this piece a good many years ago. Even today, it captures the spirit of this Town as well as anything we know. Mr. Wade was director of sports publicity at the University at the time of his death.

This is a town touched by strange magic and one to which its peoples, many of them a curious breed hold a rare and somewhat inexplicable attachment. Our town has no rivers, no mountains, no sea, but in the spring it is beautiful and in all seasons it is both wonderful and sad, romantic in the spirit of the youth it harbors in the educational process of the great State University, which is the town's principal industry.

Jake Wade

Chapel Hill, where bells wake you in the morning, regardless of whether you live in the Beta house, Cobb dormitory or on Laurel Hill Road, and where the bells keep ringing periodically the day long, with the chimes taking over in the majesty of twilight and on certain important occasions such as the big football games.

Not, really, a village any more, although its inhabitants, some living in the past, like to consider it as such . . . None of us will go far as to say that it possesses the tranquility and serenity of the Twenties, when Thomas Wolfe, and Paul Green and LeGette Blythe and "Monk" McDonald and the Carmichaels found adventure, melancholy and beauty in their diverse pursuits on the old campus and the unexplored lands beyond . . . It is not as small, and not quite as nice, but almost, and there is a whole new world of knowledge to be discovered here with resources of mind and matter in abundance.

Chapel Hill, where the civic clubs do not sing, salute flags or wear badges, but unostentatiously and quietly engage in humanitarian projects as earnestly as their back-slapping counterparts of the cities . . . . Where its only commercial radio station taboos hillbilly tunes and plays sweet music and deathless great arias.

In Chapel Hill that man in dungarees, coming out of the post office, is just as apt to be a best-selling novelist as the town's leading plumber or the divorced author of profound treatises on the science of nuptial compatibility . . . Where shoe shines, on the most modest leather, cost you twenty cents per copy, with the same treatment from five to ten cents cheaper in a much larger town across the way, but there you are not waited on by one of the town's most popular citizens who contributes philosophy sound sense and remarkably accurate football prognostications as a dividend to the dab of mundane polish.

People in our town go to church, pray, are kind and considerate, both the students and the townspeople, as in all towns . . . But where some of the ministers never wear hats, do wear sweaters, and sometimes drive the more modest editions of those little foreign make sports cars, but their democracy in manners is no compromise with the dignity of their souls, for our town is blessed with able and Godly preachers.

Chapel Hillians, like the folks in your town or city, play poker and bridge but, strangely, little or no gin rummy, and they play golf and handball . . . Chapel Hill, where the tiniest tots are able swimmers, and old men play an exciting brand of tennis . . . Where there are circles and cliques, as in all towns, for the socials, round tables and sports, but where those who travel together are frequently of oddly dissimilar tastes . . . A famous singer breaks bread often and attends games with a Kenan professor . . . A coach has tea regularly with a brilliant author . . . A University department head finds more wisdom, truth and beauty in the philosophy of a bistro keeper than in the ivory towers of his own intellectual level and prefers his company . . . But Chapel Hill is a town of neighbors who are bird watchers and who tend their flowers with loving care and talk over stone walls and drink their coffee or cocktails while talking oftenest about their children and grandchildren . . . That's Chapel Hill. God bless our town and its gentle way of life.

The University Of North Carolina At Chapel Hill

A School of Excellence, Tradition And Beauty

The University of North Carolina has a proud heritage. It is a distinguished academic institution nesting in a unique community, once called by Time Magazine "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

—The University's enrollment is approximately 13,500—and within 10 years it is expected to soar to almost 20,000.

—It is the oldest state university in the United States, first admitting students in 1795 when George Washington was president.

—There are 14 schools and colleges, including more than 70 departments and numerous other divisions.

—The Morehead Planetarium on campus helps train the astronauts.

—Thanks to 171 years of planning, the campus is considered one of the most beautiful anywhere.

—Its alumni are many. Thomas Wolfe, the great novelist, schooled here. Chapel Hill is recognized as a literary haven.

—An integral part of the University is the Division of Health Affairs, a six-fold medical-dentistry-public health complex which includes the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

—Jimmy Beatty, a Tar Heel trackman of the 1950s, was the first American to break the four-minute mile barrier.

—In athletics, Carolina won its first National Championship in basketball in 1924 with a 23-0 mark. In 1957, the Tar Heels again rated the top spot with a 32-0 mark.

—There are more than 1,000 faculty members, many of them professors of international stature. But perhaps the most famed "professor" is Kay Kyser, a Chapel Hill resident. He was the original "Old Professor of Musical Knowledge."

—A distinction is the fact that most scholars from other colleges and universities in the south chose the University at Chapel Hill as their first choice to attend —when awards are made by the Southern Fellowship Fund.

—The University has its own on-campus radio and television stations.

—James Knox Polk, a graduate of the class of 1818, became the 11th President of the United States.

—Thirty of North Carolina's 49 governors have been graduates of the University at Chapel Hill.

—All 50 states are represented in the student body at Carolina.

—Carolina, Duke and Texas rank at the top of southern Universities in a comprehensive study of graduate schools conducted by the American Council on Education.

—In a traditional program of student self-government, undergraduates have their own legislature, system of honor courts and student publications. These include a daily newspaper "The Daily Tar Heel."

—Chapel Hill is the center of an area abundant in concerts, art exhibitions, lectures, plays and sports events. Many of these are held in Chapel Hill—at the Ackland Art Center, Morehead Art Galleries, Hill Music Hall, Carolina Playmakers Theatre, Forest Theatre, Graham Memorial, Memorial Hall, Gerrard Hall and Carmichael Auditorium.

—Of a full-time faculty of more than 1,000, more than half are natives of states other than North Carolina. Of those with doctorate degrees, Carolina faculty comes from the following institutions:

"North Carolina, Texas and Duke are three rising academic giants among southern universities."—Newsweek Magazine

". . . Chapel Hill is the right place for a man with a purpose."—Time Magazine

"The University of North Carolina has moved up to a top first choice position in attracting scholars from New England preparatory schools."—The New York Times

"Chapel Hill is a charming and unforgettable place with a good flavor of the wilderness."—Novelist Thomas Wolfe

Curtis, Mary, Joseph, Mrs. Sitterson and the Chancellor

UNC's Number One Sports Fan

Carlyle Sitterson is a good man to sit next to at a sports event.

He talks it up. If he were not Chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, he could carve out an excellent career as a sports commentator—exclaiming cogent interpretations of the play that just happened, or estimates of the one coming up.

Chancellor Sitterson's articulate perception—his readiness to put his opinion on the line—carries over into his everyday associations with his family, his colleagues, his studies, with his associates in administration in the University and with the public.

His duties as the chief administrator on the campus of the nation's oldest state university are again comparable with the realities of sports. Dr. Sitterson is philosopher and practitioner of team work. When he was a historian and occasional participant in counsels of the University which led to decisions in the institution's interests, he gave advice—frankly, thoughtfully, objectively and with devotion to the alma mater he loves. When he became an administrator himself, at the same time he continued his teaching in the classrooms and his research and writing in American history, he was a team worker—with strong lines of communication between those responsible to him in the College of Arts and Sciences and the General College and equally hardy ties of understanding with those on his same plateau of responsibility and those to whom he was responsible. Chancellor Sitterson's experience in cooperative team work enables him now, that he is Chancellor, to utilize the abilities of scholars he knows and trusts, and together, to set forth on a drive towards excellence in University teaching, research and public service.

As in sports, Chancellor Sitterson places caliber of personnel—talent—as a foremost ingredient for success. Assembling a good athletic team and assembling a good faculty depend upon careful recruitment. Carlyle Sitterson has declared that the Number One thing facing him now is recruitment of distinguished faculty members—and retention of those on the faculty at Chapel Hill now. Building and maintaining a strong faculty is the primary goal as the University of North Carolina maintains its position as one of the several universities in the region having national stature and distinction, and as the University endeavors to "emerge" as an institution of universal standards and eminence in service to students and to the people of North Carolina.

Carlyle Sitterson is a Tar Heel with deep roots in eastern North Carolina, in the town of Kinston, in Chapel Hill, and the southern region. But he is likewise an academician of standing among historians and administrators in the United States. He was elected to be the Chairman of the American Conference of Academic Deans and served in that position with credit to the University.

Carlyle Sitterson was installed in office October 12, 1966, the same day that the Old East Dormitory was made a national shrine. When he was a student at Chapel Hill, Lyle Sitterson lived in Old East, the oldest state university building in the nation. The coincidence in time of the old and the new, the experienced and the attitude of willingness to try what will achieve results, and the feeling that here in Chapel Hill there is a commitment to honesty, integrity, tolerance, scholarship and discipline augur for the University a fresh opportunity for a forward thrust for the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in service to our people from now on towards the final quarter of the 20th Century.

Freshmen Prospects As Usual—Good

Despite a lack of height, North Carolina's freshman team has high hopes of maintaining a winning tradition this basketball season.

Larry Brown, starting his second year as coach, says that pre-season practices have been highlighted by unselfish play and great hustle. "The attitude of the squad has been wonderful," Brown says.

It is no secret that the Tar Babies have some outstanding prospects. But the tallest man on the squad is 6-5 Gra Whitehead, and any basketball buff will tell you that he isn't a big man by present-day standards.

One of the Tar Baby ringleaders is expected to be Charlie Scott, a highly-rated player from New York City. "Charlie has done an excellent job in practice," Brown says, "and we expect him to live up to all our expectations."

Brown feels that Ed Fogler and Jim Delany will give the team excellent leadership in the backcourt. And he has high hopes for a host of other players, including Al Armour, Whitehead, Ricky Webb, Harold Pollard and Jimmy Folds.

"We feel that our primary purpose is to school the freshmen in our program," Brown says, "and in turn prepare them for the varsity. But we also want them to develop a winning attitude. Our varsity is noted for its hard play and our biggest hope is that this will be reflected in our freshman program."

Assistant Shaffer

Charlie Shaffer, a native Chapel Hillian, coaches the game of basketball the same way he used to play it for Carolina—with fierce determination and immense energy.

This marks Shaffer's third season as a graduate assistant coach. He will help Larry Brown coach the freshman team while attending UNC law school.

Tar Heel Head Coach Dean Smith pays Shaffer a big compliment. "Charlie is such an able coach," Smith says, "that I think he could have had an outstanding career in this field. But he, of course, chose law."

A former Rhodes Scholar nominee, Shaffer won Phi Beta Kappa honors as an undergraduate, served as president to his senior class and was a star performer in basketball and tennis.

As a varsity cager, he averaged in double figures for a three-year period and was hailed for his fierce rebounding and general play.

Charlie has strong ties wtih the University. His father, a former Tar Heel football standout, is Director of Development on the Chapel Hill campus.

Larry Miller says . . .

LARRY MILLER: "Since we were eliminated last March from the Conference Tournament, I have been looking forward eagerly to this new season. The entire squad has great enthusiasm. We have a 13-man squad and that is the way we intend to play. We won't be a one, a two or a three-man team."

Bob Lewis says . . .

BOB LEWIS: "This is my last season with the Tar Heels and naturally I'm looking forward to the year with great determination. We may not win every game, but the squad has dedicated itself to give a full effort every time out. I'm particularly pleased because we have such fine help this year on the backboards."

Radio Coverage

Bill Currie and Jack Callahan (WSOC, Charlotte) once more will handle the play-by-play and color for the sizeable Tar Heel sports network. All games will be broadcast.

Currie is one of the best known sports announcers in the entire South and he is ably assisted by Callahan. These two also handle the Tar Heel football network.

Athletic Facilities

North Carolina's athletic plant rates with the best in the nation. It's modern, it's beautiful—and it's constantly being updated.

Familiar to Chapel Hill visitors is Kenan Stadium, enlarged to 43,000 permanent seats in 1963 at a cost of more than a million dollars. Constructed in 1927, it is a natural amphitheatre surrounded by tall pines. Kenan Field House, where the football and baseball teams dress, was also renovated in 1963.

New Carmichael Auditorium, a blue heaven for Tar Heel basketball teams, replaced Woollen Gymnasium in 1965. It seats 8,500. Chair-type seats form a horse-shoe pattern.

Woollen, which was built in 1938, has a central gymnasium which covers more than an acre. Along with eight basketball courts for the use of the student body, it contains locker rooms and handball, volleyball, and badminton courts, along with special rooms for various other sports.

Attached to the gymnasium is Bowman Gray Memorial Indoor Swimming Pool. This 165 foot Olympic pool is 55 feet wide and is completely modern in every respect. It can seat 1,500 for big meets.

Kessing Outdoor Swimming Pool, built in 1943, is 49 feet by 150 feet in size and is open to University students and faculty during the warmer months.

UNC netmen, ACC kingpins year in and out, play on six teniko, all-weather courts. In addition, there are 14 clay, 26 asphalt and two concrete courts for recreation.

The Tin Can, a supplementary gym, is 110 feet wide and 330 feet long. North Carolina's indoor track is rigged there, except when it's moved to Woollen for the ACC Indoor Championships. It's also used for baseball practice in rainy weather and intramural games.

Coach Walt Rabb's baseballers played their first game in their new, tree-framed park in the spring of 1966. Still unnamed, the Athletic Department plans to spend about $100,000 in improvements. It replaced Emerson Field, where Tar Heel baseball teams had competed for almost 40 years.

North Carolina's defending ACC golf champions (1966) practice and play on Finley, an 18 hole championship course.

As for trackmen, they've enjoyed first rate facilities for almost 20 years.

Coach Joe Hilton's students run on the ACC's only indoor track during the winter season. It's a wooden, banked ten-lapper which he values at $15,000.

The outdoor track, Fetzer Field, was built in 1935 and dedicated to the dean of Southern track and a long time Athletic Director here, R. A. (Coach Bob) Fetzer.

Built of cinders, it is a quarter mile long and 30 feet wide with a 220 yard straightaway. The stadium has a seating capacity of 7,000. The track team has dressing facilities beneath the stadium.

Year Executive Secretary

ERNIE WILLIAMSON

Ernie Williamson has always felt that a donation to the Educational Foundation was not specifically a donation to athletics. He contends the high type of young man who is awarded a scholarship not only pays dividends to the Athletic Department, but also is a great asset to his University.

Williamson, who serves as executive secretary of the Educational Foundation, reports that interest in the scholarship program is at an all-time high. He feels that those who participate in the function agree that the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young man obtain a college education. Athletics, while important, come second.

"This job is a rewarding one," explains Williamson. "I watch the boy arrive here and grow into manhood. At the same time I am closely allied with those who provide the monetary means to make this possible. The boy benefits no more than those who help him. It is a two-way street."

Williamson, the one-time Tar Heel tackle, willingly accepts any donation to the Educational Foundation. He realizes the small doner of today is the Big Ram of tomorrow. Membership in the Rams Club, which is confined to those who contribute $100 or more, is at an all-time high.

Last year a special room was constructed on the south wing of Kenan Field House to serve as a meeting place for Rams and their families. The area is open two hours before game time and provides a lounge, picnic facilities, and restrooms for those who come early. In the off-season other functions are held here in relation to the Foundation program.

Foundation members receive priority on seat location for football and basketball games. They are welcome guests to all athletic programs.

"A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," explains Williamson. "However, many of our finest members did not necessarily attend the University. They heard about our program and felt it was most worthy. We are delighted to welcome them into the fold."

Williamson points out a membership of any type directly helps earnest young men achieve an education. All donations to the Foundation are tax deductible.

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized The Educational Foundation, Inc.

They were John W. Umstead, Jr., of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn, with these three men as the incorporators, and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization.

The charter was issued on December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of The Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

There are similar organizations at all institutions where athletics are considered important and beneficial, and where other means of providing such assistance are not available.

The Educational Foundation, Inc., operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessing and good will of the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status comparable to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

ADMINISTRATION AND OPERATION

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expense.

Born in Crewe, Va., on Sept. 9, 1922, Ernie Williamson, a giant of a man, is a North Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. He played one season of football here under Carl Snavely in 1946 and was a tremendous tackle. He was lured away to play professional football and had tenures with Washington and Los Angeles before his career was cut short by a knee injury.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to complete his education and went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he was an assistant football coach two years and head coach three years. He also coached wrestling and track.

Married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va., Ernie is the father of a son and daughter.

THE RAMS, INC.

Educational Foundation members who contribute as much as $100 qualify for membership in THE RAMS, INC.

Rams receive number one priority on seat locations, permanently assigned.

In addition, they are issued season parking permits in selected parking areas.

Rams who donate $500 or more, in addition to the other benefits, are given by the Educational Foundation, gratis, four season tickets to all home games in football.

Trainer for The Olympics

JOHN LACEY

John Lacey has worked with three national championship teams in a distinguished career which has seen him earn the reputation as one of the nation's most able athletic trainers.

Players and coaches alike respect the judgment of Lacey, who currently is serving his 11th season on the Tar Heel staff.

While working at Maryland in the 1950s, Lacey saw the Terps win national titles in football and lacrosse. At Carolina, he helped guide the 1957 basketball team to a similar honor.

Lacey was introduced to Carolina sports by the late Jim Tatum, under whom he had worked at Maryland. Before becoming the trainer at Maryland, Lacey had worked at Yale University and served for a time with three professional teams, the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and the Baltimore Colts.
University and served for a time with three professional teams, the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and the Baltimore Colts.

In 1964, Lacey was trainer of the U. S. Olympic basketball team, champion of the Tokyo Olympics.

He trained at Tifton Academy and studied at the Eastern School in New York under Dr. S. E. Bilik. He also attended the Junior College of Therapy in New Haven and was a student at the Yale University Department of Health.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., the well dressed Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch.

Erickson And Rabb--Two Carolina Men On The Move

CHUCK ERICKSON

Charles P. (Chuck) Erickson is a man on the move—and the University of North Carolina athletic program moves with him. Progress is the gentleman's trademark.

In his 14 years as athletic director at Carolina, Erickson has shaped up a program that ranks among the best, and has overseen construction of facilities which are magnificent.

Twice in the past three years, Carolina has won the Carmichael Cup, a silver trophy symbolic of overall athletic achievement in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Erickson is as proud of the University's sports facilities as he is of the men who play the games for the Tar Heels. He takes great personal pride in the recent addition to scenic Kenan Stadium, a project which cost $1 million.

Carmichael Auditorium, one of the most beautiful basketball arenas in the south, is only one year old. It seats 8,500 for basketball. Erickson has his office in this spacious building.

A new baseball field has been shaped from the valley below Navy Field. In the heart of the campus is a complex of tennis courts, once the scene of the National Collegiate Tournament.

There are two Olympic-sized pools, one indoors and one out, and Woollen Gym is set aside for intramurals, indoor track and physical education. A row of grassed fields borders Carmichael and is used for physical education and intramurals. Two of the fields are lighted. Navy Field still is the home of lacrosse, soccer and as an instructional area for archery and golf.

Erickson is a graduate of Carolina with a Science degree in Engineering. A native of Oak Park, Ill., he arrived at UNC in the late 1920s and was a star halfback under Chuck Collins.

He is married to the former Mildred Wanell, and both are extremely proud of a grandson, presented less than a year ago by daughter Susan.

WALTER RABB

Walter Rabb, who used to be a slick fielder on the baseball diamond, pulls a triple play in the University of North Carolina athletic offices these days.

He holds down three jobs as assistant director of athletics, head baseball coach and instructor in the physical education department.

And believe it or not, he still finds time for his No. 1 hobby—fishing.

In his administrative capacity, Rabb works closely with athletic Director Chuck Erickson and handles much of the scheduling of Tar Heel athletics.

In the spring, Rabb takes to the baseball field and turns out teams which often have been the pride of the Atlantic Coast Conference. Three times in the past six years, Carolina baseballers have swept the league championship.

Last year's team not only accomplished that trick, but also won the District Three (Southern) crown and earned a berth in the College World Series at Omaha. The Tar Heels lost two straight at Omaha, but were voted No. 4 nationally in final polls.

Rabb is married to the former Amy Warren of Snow Hill. They have a daughter and a son.
